

Don't you dare regulate my XM radio. What gives???...the local stations get by with playing rap and other "pop 40" tunes with the filthiest lyrics and scenarios. Absolutely inappropriate and inconsistant with developing family morals and values. Most all local stations are just cookie cutter: you hear the same thing over and over again. Not to mention the abrasive advertisements for car dealers, furniture liquidation sales and weight loss products. Very little news of any merit is delivered on the local air waves.

XM radio provides high quality entertainment, news, and information how I want it and where I want it. It is my right as an American to choose the music and information I want to hear....if Xm can deliver it in a more appropriate fashion, let the others beware and possibly learn something in the process.
